

Bowen Island Emergency Social Services

Volunteers...We Need Your Help

Spread the Word

One of the mandates of Emergency Social Services is to promote public awareness of the ESS program and emergency planning.

With the re-energizing of BowFest over the past two years, it's the perfect opportunity to reach people in the community with our message. BowFest this year is on Saturday, August 29 and it's time to start planning our booth.

If you're passionate about spreading the word about personal emergency preparedness and you're full of ideas, please contact Reidun van Kervel at 947-2276 or vankervelkerr@telus.net to help.

Don't put it off...do it today!

Confirm our Local Resources

A second critical mandate of Emergency Social Services is to acquire and manage food, clothing, lodging and other resources needed in an emergency response.

We have obtained commitments from many of the Bowen Island food and lodging establishments over the years. It is important to keep these commitments updated and appropriately documented as ownership and other circumstances change.

We need help in contacting and confirming participation from our suppliers. The list isn't long, so it won't take a big time commitment.

Please contact Reidun van Kervel at 947-2276 or vankervelkerr@telus.net to help.

Don't put it off....do it today!

Know someone who might be interested in volunteering for ESS? Have them contact Reidun van Kervel at 604.947.2276 or Jen McGowan at ESSonbowen@canada.com.